State grants 'certain' for sewer structure, equipment

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Residents of Madison County Special Service Area One—the Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships sanitary sewer system—need not be fearful of county governmental actions, County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields said last week.

As an illustration that the county is "on the side of the sewer district residents," he noted, steps have been taken to obtain state grants for 75 percent of the funds needed to construct a $150,000 permanent, office and maintenance building and to install a $157,500 generator and monitoring system.

Both sewer-related grants are "virtually certain" to be approved, Fields predicted; as a consequence, only 25 percent of such unavoidable expenditures will be borne by the property owners.

Although a good case could be made that the new monthly sewer maintenance and treatment charge of $15.80 is a bargain compared to many other communities, it will be kept to the barest minimum necessary to operate the sewer district—and can be cut when finances permit, Fields told the Press-Record.

The rate was changed from $11.80 to $15.80, effective July 1, in a 17-7 County Board vote June 17 over objections by board members from the Quad-City area.

Through no fault of the residents and no fault of the local County Board members who make up the special sewer committee, numerous occurrences have caused setbacks for the sewer program and its finances, the county auditor said.

Harry E. Hartman, the sewer district attorney, died, resulting in the committee losing his expertise before some of the planned actions were completed.

Walter Sparks, former sewer committee chairman, is no longer on the County Board, further compounding the loss of Hartman; the committee had to "change horses in the middle of the stream" in two of its key leadership and advisory posts.

With weather a factor, the timing of the sewer installations and connections prevented the collection of maintenance-treatment fees for several months after major operating and administrative costs had begun.

—Substantially fewer users—3,400—than originally projected have connected onto the sewer system.

—The cost of obtaining primary and secondary treatment before sewage is discharged into the Mississippi River—such treatment is required by law—proved to be larger than had been estimated.

—Costs like the treatment fee to the City of Granite City must be paid by the county government (the special service area is not the kind of governmental entity empowered to function on its own) regardless of whether or not users have paid their sewer maintenance-treatment bills.

—Collection losses are running higher than expected (eight percent instead of five percent), and the steps required to reduce this would also involve a cost.

Such negative factors are cited by

City council to get first budget draft

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

It is expected to be a very busy meeting of the Granite City Council Tuesday night as the aldermen get their first look at a proposed budget designed to help bring the city out of its current financial crisis.

The latest available information indicates that the city started its fiscal year May 1 approximately $700,000 in the red and the aldermen hassled during two special meetings last week with possible ways to improve the financial situation.

Among the suggestions still being considered are imposition of a utility tax, a rollback of city salaries to April, 1981, levels (starting with the July 15 payroll), staff reductions of from 10 to 20 percent in many or all city departments and a freeze in wages and hiring. Petitions are being circulated opposing any cut in emergency services (police, fire and ambulance), either in personnel or in equipment.

Mayor Schuler said the budget he is preparing for the council to consider deals with the crisis by taking each department's expenditures during the last fiscal year and giving each 10 percent less for this fiscal year.

That would indicate a general fund budget of approximately $5.5 million is being prepared. Last year, the general fund budget was $7,262,086, but what actual expenditures were will not be known until the accountant who is studying the city's books issues his final report.

Schuler told the Press-Record that he is not considering any organizational changes in the budget, although he would not be opposed to some consolidation of departments.

"We have talked about an organizational change for some time," the mayor noted. Speaking of last Wednesday night's meeting where combining of several departments was

Portell sues for more office space

Circuit Court Clerk Willard V. "Butch" Portell sued the Madison County Board on Thursday for more space to house his mammoth filing and record-keeping operations.

The quarters are too jammed to efficiently and safely do the work, he told the Press-Record.

Daniel J. Slack, attorney for the veteran court official, sought a writ of mandamus requiring the county to "purchase or lease the additional adequate space necessary for the proper performance of the circuit court clerk's duties and obligations" and to pay his costs and reasonable attorney fees associated with the lawsuit.

The court clerk's staff operates traffic, family, probate, child support, criminal records, small claims court and criminal court divisions at Edwardsville, the county seat, as well as manning court offices in Granite City, Collinsville, Alton, Wood River and East Alton.

Portell, a former Granite Cityan who resides in Collinsville, cites Illinois state laws requiring the county government to "provide proper rooms and offices, and for the repair thereof, for the accommodation of the Circuit Court of the county and for the clerks for such court."

"And to provide suitable furnishings for such rooms and offices, and to furnish fireproof safes and the repair thereof for the offices of the clerks of the Circuit Court. The courtrooms and furnishings thereof shall meet with reasonable standards prescribed by the Supreme Court of Illinois."

The suit also notes an Illinois statute specifying that "the necessary rooms and office furniture, the proper vaults or other means for the safekeeping of the archives of the respective offices, shall be provided for the several clerks...by the county boards of their respective counties, and the costs thereof paid out of the county treasury."

The circuit clerk relates that on May 28, June 12 and July 27, 1980, and other times he requested increased office space either in the Courthouse or in any other building which could be leased or bought within the county.

It is contended that the county has funds with which adequate office space could be provided, through tax collections and through circuit court clerk fees. Portell says that in the Dec. 1, 1979, to Nov. 30, 1980, county fiscal year, he turned in fees totaling $377,909 to the county general fund as "profits" from the work of his staff.

The suit adds that "the defendants" were and still are aware of the fact that the I-V-D program—under which the circuit clerk assists the state in making collections—collected $312,687 from May 1980 to April 1981.

"The clerk received a fee amounting to $33,496 and, for said period, the county was required to pay only $28,562, with a match by the federal and state in Wilson Park attracted thousands of Quad-City area residents, who loudly expressed their approval of the scores of aerial bombs, skyrockets and ground displays. The fireworks were rescheduled from

Saturday night to last night, due to rain Saturday. Sunday night, they made a fitting climax to the five-day holiday celebration, which includes a carnival in the park.

Thousands of valuations cut

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
(10th in a series)

Taxation may not be "Topic A" for everyone but it is near the top of the list of property owners' concerns. Thousands each year are dismayed to see their proposed assessments rise, and then are gratified to see them cut.

The reductions are not necessarily actual cutbacks in real estate valuation, but rather a county-level trimming of the figures proposed by township assessors.

Who are the villains, if any, and who are the heroes? It is difficult to say. But unquestionably, to paraphrase the song, there is "a whole lot of shaking going on" in upward and downward revisions of various property valuations.

The shaking of the status quo frightens and angers many taxpayers, who wonder if there is enough uniformity and impartiality.

Some of the assessment changes stem from economic inflation and others relate to allegations by property owners that they are being treated unfairly. Compared to others.

For the Quad-City area alone, more than 3,500 assessment changes were announced June 25 by the Board of Review. Similar revisions took place elsewhere in Madison County.

Many of these were "Board of Review" changes—"alterations of township-set property assessments after owners protested and hearings were conducted by the three-member board."

Many others in the June 25 list, more than 1,000 Quad-City area revisions, were "changes by certificate of error," a procedure that has drawn extensive criticism for its frequent use during the 1970s.

A procedural defect of the utilization of certificates was that it went on behind the scenes, with the public unaware of the actual assessment levels on which various individuals and companies paid their taxes.

A subsequent law change requires both the certificate procedure and hearing and review results to be

2 burned in fire

An 8-year-old girl suffered second and third degree burns to approximately 75 percent of her body and her father burned his hands during a fire early today at the home of Wesley D. McClery, 1709 Courtenay Blvd.

The fire was believed to have started when a firebomb was thrown into the living room, sources indicated, and the home was the scene of a previous firebombing attempt, according to W. Lee Adams, chief-elect of the fire department.

Melinda McClery, 8, was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where attempts were made to stabilize her condition and she was transferred to the burn unit of St. John's Mercy Medical Center in St. Louis County. She was in serious, but stable, condition this morning, investigators said.

Her father suffered burns to both his hands but was expected to be released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center after treatment today. He said he tried to put out the fire with his hands. The mother and approximately three other children escaped injury when they fled from the house, firefighters said.

Long Lake Volunteer firemen and rescue workers were called to the house at 3:04 a.m. today and found the living room heavily involved in flames. An ambulance containing the young girl was leaving the scene when fire trucks arrived.

Early fears that the mother and other children might be trapped inside were alleviated; the remainder of the family came from a neighbor's home, where they had sought refuge.

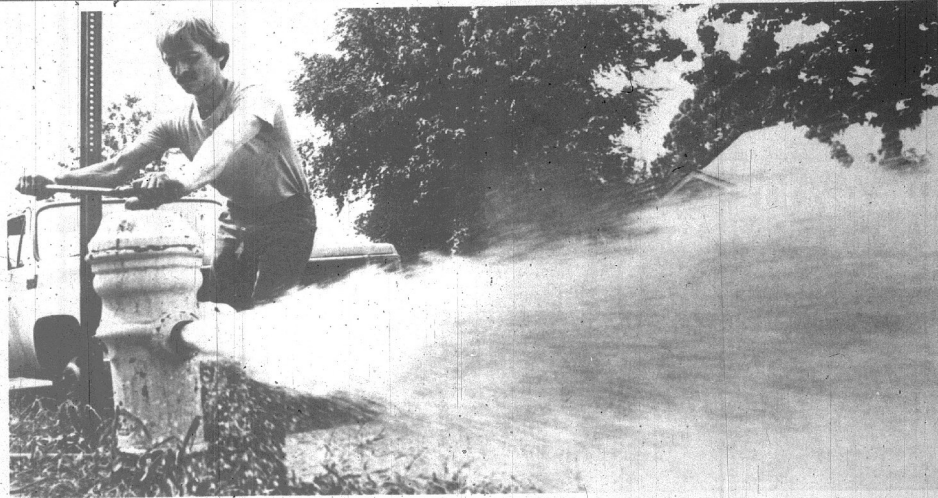

Firemen fought the fire until 4:30 a.m. today. Two pumpers, the emergency truck, 12 firemen and the arson investigation truck were on the scene. Damage was estimated at $10,000 to the house and at least $1,000 to its contents.

Fireman Lennie Schaefer was overcome by the heat during the battle and was treated at the scene by rescue workers. He did not require hospitalization.

Tom Boushard, the fire department's arson investigator, and Diana Sievers, criminalistics officer for the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement, were among the investigators on the scene this morning, taking tire prints from the mud and sifting through the rubble in the living room for evidence.

Chief-elect Adams, who is to be installed tonight, commented, "The cause is under investigation. Arson is suspected. There has been a previous firebombing attempt there before."

He said he did not have any details on the previous firebombing attempt, except that it was unsuccessful and there was no fire.

ANNUAL TESTING of the fire hydrants in Madison is done last week by a worker for the Illinois-American Water Co. The testing is done annually to determine the pressure of water throughout the system. Workers will be doing similar tests in eastern Madison, Cloverleaf, Eagle Park, Venice and areas of Nameoki Township during the next two weeks.

Man in home with shotgun is captured

Aggravated battery and resisting arrest were charged against John Pellazari, 37, of 707 N. 27th Place after he fought several police officers responding to a disturbance call there at 12:05 p.m. Saturday.

Policemen's task was complicated by the presence of a 12 gauge shotgun in a bedroom where he was captured, and by the verbal opposition of about eight persons who entered the home and yard to protest against the arrest.

Pellazari allegedly struck an officer in the chest with his fists before handcuffs could be placed on him inside the home.

A struggle continued as he was taken to a police car, and at one time two policemen fell on the front porch with the man above them. One officer obtained treatment at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The call for police had related that the man had threatened to shoot and kill his wife, Ann. She and two other family members told arriving officers that he was in a back bedroom with the gun.

Officers contended that the man kicked, swung fists, scratched and pulled at policemen's uniforms in trying to avoid being taken into custody.

It was not immediately learned why a crowd of neighbors sided with the man. The shotgun was confiscated as evidence.

The Granite City Park District is planning its annual trip to Nashville, Tenn., the weekend of Aug. 21, 22 and 23. The price of the trip is determined by the number of persons staying in each room.

The cost of the trip will include the bus transportation, two nights at the motel, the ticket for Opryland and a ticket for the Grand Ole Opry. This year for the first time the group will attend the 9:30 p.m. show on Friday evening.

Saturday morning will include a tour of stars' homes before going to Opryland to spend the day. Late Saturday evening the group will have dinner at a newly opened restaurant in an 1883 warehouse. The cost of the bus transportation is $31 per person, the ticket to Opryland is $9.25, the Grand Ole Opry ticket is $8 and the balance depends on the number staying in the motel rooms. Registration for this trip will be in the Wilson Park Office beginning Friday, July 10 at 9 a.m. Park District residents will give first choice at a price and no individual can make reservations for more than four persons. Charge two in burglary

Paul W. Milosevich, 23, and Marcus L. Irvin, 20, who told police they reside in a mobile home in the 2800 block of Victory Drive, have been charged with burglary in informational documents from the Madison County state's attorney's office.

They are accused of breaking into a paneling from a wall at the Wayside Tavern, 2600 Washington Ave., at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday, June 30, and Irvin allegedly was found hiding inside a stock room inside the tavern. A tire tool found on the ground was believed used to pry paneling from a bathroom wall and gain entry. A hammer then was used to break the bathroom wall.

Police responded to a burglar alarm and alleged seeing Milosevich run from between buildings, one being the tavern. He was ordered to stop, complied and was handcuffed.

Police then surrounded the tavern, entered with the owner and found Irvin hiding in the stock room next to the beer cooler, police alleged. He was handcuffed and arrested.

Both were lodged in the city jail. Irvin appeared before a judge in Granite City. Milosevich was released upon posting for $10,000 property bond and $600 cash bail. Irvin's bond was set at $25,000 and he was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Chester Andersen, wife, named new Pontoon Beach citizens of year

Chester Andersen, 65, a resident of Pontoon Beach since 1942, and his wife, Leora, were honored as Pontoon Beach's Citizens of the Year by the Pontoon Beach Lions' Club last week.

The honor was bestowed during the club's fifth annual installation and community awards dinner at the Lions Den II, 3501 Lake Drive.

Retiring president David Schermer told the audience that Andersen, a former county constable, has been active in the community for many years, helped organize the Stalling School PTA and led the movement for the first routed school buses here.

He was a charter member of the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department and was an original member of the former Pontoon Beach Athletic Club in the early 1950s. He also served as chairman of a committee which offered his own movies for children on Saturday afternoons in the village.

He was a charter member of the Long Lake Amvets post and helped to create and support the incorporation of the village of Pontoon Beach.

Andersen, a World War II Army veteran, served as the first Pontoon Beach Street Department, using his own trucks and equipment and giving many hours of volunteer services to the village.

"He has helped many friends, neighbors and senior citizens by cleaning off driveways, towing automobiles from ditches and the like," Schermer noted in saying that he feels Andersen has earned the right to be a Citizen of the Year. The Andersens reside at 4205 Brune Drive.

Andersen and his wife received a standing ovation from the audience when he received the award, obviously choked with emotion.

Citizen of the Year awards have been given by the club annually since 1976. Past winners are Otto and Corine Kreher, John and Irene Karlechik, Andy and JoAnn Bukovac, Chester and Thelma Dean and Harry and Pauline Briggs.

The club also announced its Lion of the Year, Phil Vaughn. He is the fifth Pontoon Beach Lion to earn that award. Previous winners have been Vince Thorpe, Chester E. Dean, Donald D. Patrick and Bobby L. Durnan.

New officers installed at the meeting were Bob Barton, president; David R. Schermer, immediate past president;

Frank L. Cramer, vice-president; Bobby J. Durbin, second vice-president; Michael J. Przygoda, third vice-president; Donald Patrick, executive secretary-treasurer; Phillip W. Vaughn, Lion Lamer, and Walter R. Morgan, tail twister.

Several checks were presented by the club to representatives of charitable organizations as part of the club's continuing efforts to support worthwhile programs.

A $1,000 check was given to C.A. "Bud" MacMillan, director of Co-ordinated Youth Services, to help support the Youth Community Service Center, and another $1,000 check was presented to Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry A. Briggs to help support senior citizen activities in the township.

A $500 check was presented to Jim Whitt, chairman of the Tri-Cities Chapter of the American Red Cross, a $350 check was given to Paul Mihalich, district chairman of the Unihah District, Boy Scouts of America, and a $300 check was presented to Dave Femrite, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area YMCA, to support their various activities.

Another $250 check was donated to Rosemarie Lindner, public relations director for Hospice of Madison County. Village departments receiving gifts from the club included the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department, which received a $1,400 water pump, and the police department, which was given eight bullet-proof vests. Fire Chief Earl Arnold and Police Chief Rosewell Bennett Jr., accepted the gifts. The Long Lake Junior Firemen also were honored, and Chief Brian Johnson received a plaque for his men.

Plaques also were given to the Pontoon Beach Village, represented by Village Clerk Mary Warren, the Lions Club of Pontoon Beach, represented by President Nancy Goodson, and the District Governor, who also received a pair of Lion book ends from the club.

Schermer said in his final speech as president that he is proud of the club's achievements in the past year. Membership declined from 33 to 27, but the 27 remaining have all been active members. "I have to feel we have grown," he said. One loss deeply felt was the death of Chester Dean, who will be missed, Schermer said.

Schermer reviewed an impressive record of meetings, zone meetings, board of directors meetings and other events club members have attended outside of the village. He said the club also made impressive showings during the Candy Day, Give-a-Can Day and other fund-raising projects.

He said many Lions on the district and state level may not know what the Pontoon Beach is, but "it is quite obvious that the Pontoon Beach club is a very active club," Schermer said.

Accomplishments of which Schermer said he is very proud are the providing of TWIX telephones for the deaf, transferring three pairs of eyes to St. Louis to help the blind, providing a hearing aid free to one needy youth, donating $5,000 to the Illinois Eye Research Institute in a five-year commitment, winning the CARE Award for the highest per-capita donation of any club, supporting Camp Lion, donating to the fight against cerebral palsy, helping the March of Dimes and the Granite City Association for Crippled Children and many others.

He estimated the club has donated $34,000 to help those less fortunate in the past year. "Now that's production. Our motto is 'We serve.' I thank the Lions of Pontoon Beach for the opportunity of accomplishments on our record. We have served," he concluded.

Gov. Dan Rostenbom said he is proud of the accomplishments of the Pontoon Beach club and of the parade of checks received during the international Lions convention in Phoenix, Ariz., including those from the local club.

He said that if you multiply the accomplishments of the local club by the 47 clubs in the district, then multiply that by the number of districts in the state and the 50 states in the country, Lionism can be seen in its true proportions.

"We do a whole lot and we are proud of what we do. We appreciate it," Fenton said.

President-elect Bob Barton was installed and told the club he is proud to be a Pontoon Beach Lion and is looking forward to heading the club in the next year.

Gov. Rostenbom said in a statement made by General George Patton who said teamwork can either be like pushing a wet noodle, which accomplishes nothing, or pulling together on it, which moves it. He encouraged the club members to pull together in the next year for even greater accomplishments.

DAVID NORTH
Religious concert
at Third Baptist

A religious concert featuring gospel, contemporary gospel, traditional and spiritual selections will be presented on Sunday, July 12, at 6:30 p.m. at the Third Baptist Church by David North of Alton.

After graduating from Alton High School, North chose science as a career and he received a B.A. degree in physics and a masters degree in Environmental Science from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

His plans changed after graduation from science to theology and he will begin his third year of seminary training this fall at Colgate-Rochester Theological Seminary in Rochester, N.Y. As a seminary student he now is involved in research in church worship.

North has sung with the St. Louis Municipal Opera singing chorus, St. Louis Symphony Chorus, Alton Municipal Band, SIUE Chorus, Concert Choral and Community Choral Society. He also has served as president and director of the SIUE Black Gospel Choir and presented concerts in Rochester, N.Y., Buffalo, Kanakake.

New fee for Venice yard sales

A $3 fee for garage, rummage and yard sales will soon be imposed in Venice, it was decided at the Venice City Council meeting last week.

Mayor Tyrone Echols told the council members that there is nothing in the city ordinances which governs these types of sales.

In lieu of imposing a $15 fee, valid for one year, the council unanimously passed an ordinance for the $3 fee per day. The fee will be effective July 10.

The council also agreed to purchase two police cars from Dave Croft Dodge, the lowest bidder for the cars. The "police package" cars will cost $12,530 after trading the old police cars.

Alderman Victor Valentine Sr. expressed concerns of a warranty, so the city would not be plagued with the same maintenance problems that have been faced in the past.

The trade-in cars had a warranty of 12,000 miles or one year, whichever ever came first, according to Chief of Police Farris Smith. It was indicated that this also will apply for the new cars.

After examining the possibility of buying the cars through the state purchasing pool, it was determined that the bids received from private dealers were less expensive.

It was announced that the authorizing agent for the Illinois municipal retirement fund will be City Clerk Duane Georff.

The council members also decided that some city employees will receive a holiday from work Friday, July 3, in observance of the July 4 celebration.

Mayor Echols regrettably informed the council members that there is no money in the city budget for pay raises at this time. He also noted that many area governmental bodies are in financial distress.

Plan expansion of state prisons

Last week's proposal would utilize $6.7 million in capital development bond funds in the 1981-82 fiscal year to:

—Provide $2.5 million to plan for construction of a new 750-bed medium-security institution at Vienna, an institution that would employ 425 persons with a yearly payroll in excess of $6.5 million. The new facility would cost $46 million when completed. It would be erected on property already owned by the state which houses the minimum-security Vienna Correctional Center.

The new institution would be located just southeast of the present center. Bids could be taken in 1982, with completion in 1984.

Funds to complete the construction phase will be sought during the General Assembly's fall or winter session, Gov. Thompson said.

—Speed up the addition of 200 beds at the 425-bed Sheridan Correctional Center at a cost of $1 million. —Plan an addition of 200 beds to the 200-bed East Moline Correctional Center at a cost of $700,000.

—Search for a site for a new 750-bed medium security prison in the Northern Illinois area.

"Our best projections show that our prison population will increase through 1985 by about 2,500 to 3,000 persons," Thompson said.

"These efforts will get us moving toward getting the new beds that will be needed three years from now in the Illinois correctional system."

"This will also bring us closer to the day when we can halt the early-release program being utilized now at a safety valve against further overcrowding."

Douglas-Lincoln campaign recalled

Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln, a murder trial of Winnebago Indians, and Mark Twain in Chicago are among the subjects of the most recent journal of the Illinois State Historical Society, a quarterly publication.

The circumstances that culminated in the famous 1858 senatorial race between Douglas and Lincoln are the subject of the lead article in the current magazine issue.

Douglas was hindered in his re-election bid by opposition forces within the Buchanan administration. Robert W. Johannsen of the University of Illinois discusses the problems encountered by both Douglas and Lincoln in seeking the nomination of their respective parties.

Douglas won the U.S. Senate race in Illinois, but 10 years later lost the presidency to Lincoln.

Author Martin Zanger's research of an 1820 Winnebago murder case shows the different concepts of justice and revenge between the native Americans and the authorities who conducted the trial, held in Southern Illinois.

The case involved three Indians who were accused of killing two soldiers at Fort Armstrong, near Rock Island.

The Winnebagos languished in a St. Clair County jail for several months prior to the trial, and their plight eventually attracted the attention of Secretary of War John C. Calhoun.

Mark Twain's lecture tours in Chicago are the subject of an article by Trygve Thoreson of Evanston. This lighthearted look at America's foremost humorist in the late 1800s is intended to entertain as well as inform readers about the city twin called "always a novelty." Thoreson includes an account of Twain's role in founding the Chicago Press Club.

"We do a whole lot and we are proud of what we do. We appreciate it," Fenton said.

President-elect Bob Barton was installed and told the club he is proud to be a Pontoon Beach Lion and is looking forward to heading the club in the next year.

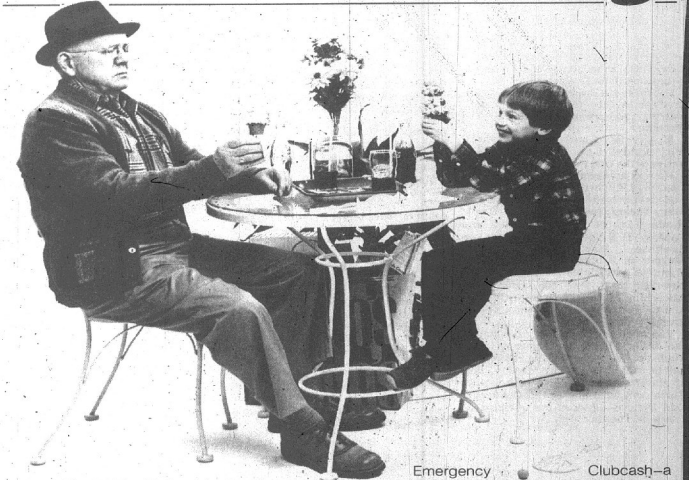

Gov. Rostenbom said in a statement made by General George Patton who said teamwork can either be like pushing a wet noodle, which accomplishes nothing, or pulling together on it, which moves it. He encouraged the club members to pull together in the next year for even greater accomplishments.

Grand jury indicts Niehaus Sr., Thursday

A Madison County grand jury Thursday indicted Richard Lee Niehaus Sr., 46, of 1115 Cambridge Ave., Madison, on a state criminal charge of aggravated battery.

A spokesman for the Madison County State's Attorney said Niehaus Sr. would probably be arraigned later this week.

The charge stems from a disturbance at the Niehaus home on Saturday, May 30, at 2:10 a.m. when Madison Police Officer Richard Asperger was allegedly injured.

Madison police originally charged Niehaus Sr. with aggravated assault, resisting arrest and battery. He was released from custody after the disturbance on payment of $300 cash bond.

A Madison police spokesman said it would be up to the state attorney if Niehaus Sr. had to face the other Madison charges.

Jeff L. Niehaus, 17, also of 1115 Cambridge Ave., has been charged by Venice police with disorderly conduct, resisting a peace officer and battery.

When apprehended later that night, Hargrove also was booked on pending warrants in an unrelated case, alleging curfew violation and driving without a valid driver license.

Five police departments responded to the disturbance call.

Officer Asperger went to 1115 Cambridge Ave., Madison, after the Madison police received complaints about a loud party.

When apprehended later that night, Hargrove also was booked on pending warrants in an unrelated case, alleging curfew violation and driving without a valid driver license.

Hundreds of lawsuits food court

The Third Judicial Circuit in Madison County has the image of attracting a wide range and large volume of lawsuits, and it is living up to that reputation again this year.

As the first half of 1981 was drawing to a close last week, the number of suits filed during the year in the law division passed 675.

Newly filed lawsuits include numerous instances of alleged deprivation of rights, primarily the right to drive or work safely.

Many of the currently pending cases involve injuries sustained during construction, remodeling and expansion work at Granite City Steel.

Randall Joe Stevenson, a scrap burier for the Sisco Steel Co., contended June 25 he was hurt May 14 while Sisco was performing a contract to "dismount and scrap large sections of scrap metal at Granite City Steel."

He seeks $200,000 in each of two counts naming GC Steel and two counts naming John Parker, a supervisor.

Stevenson says he was standing on a pile of scrap metal, attempting to cut a 12-foot-high piece of scrap iron, when the pile shifted. A large piece fell, crushing one of his legs, the suit relates.

Joseph LaMontagne says in a suit June 15 that he was injured at Granite City Steel Feb. 23, 1980, while employed as an ironworker by H. W. Kroeger Erecton Co. repairing a coke oven battery.

His suit asks for in excess of $15,000 from GC Steel and Andco, Inc., a general contractor.

LaMontagne asserts he was operating a 45-pound sledgehammer on a metal platform that had a 6x8-foot opening topped by a board used as a walkway. He says the board slid sideways, he fell into the opening and received back strain and multiple contusions, it is contended.

Also suing Granite City Steel, a National Steel Corp. division, during June were James A. Kennedy, Thomas M. Kiely and Fred Crowe.

Kennedy, a G. H. Sternberg & Co. ironworker helping construct columns inside the rolling mill, tells of falling Aug. 12, 1979, from slippery rungs of a ladder while welding metal plates onto a column.

Asking for over $15,000 in each of two counts, he reports suffering left shoulder and back injuries in an eight-foot fall onto a steel pipe.

Kiely, a Sersteel Corp. bod carrier, was moving insulation into a coke oven by way of a scaffold and asserts he hurt his back and spine in a 30-foot fall.

The suit relates that Kiely tumbled through an opening in the scaffold and fell Jan. 3, 1980, landing in a sitting position on a concrete ledge.

Crowe seeks in excess of $15,000 from National Steel and from Miller Steel Supply Co., citing rib fractures and neck, back, shoulder and leg contusions and abrasions sustained Feb. 16.

It is contended that National Steel owns a former Commonwealth steel plant building at 1426 State St., operated by Michigan Metal Processing Corp., which employed Crowe as a maintenance worker.

He tells of slipping and falling into a machinery pit at the end of Bay 8, after being assigned to stand on the edge of the pit to install guard rails around the pit.

Archer, Daniels, Midland Corp. was named in two injury suits filed during June in the Third Circuit, records show.

Joseph Frank Govers says he fell while working for Winbuck Tank Co. to make additions and alterations to an ADM plant in Decatur. He asks $150,000 in each of two counts.

ADM property in Granite City is alleged to have been the site March 20, 1980, of injuries received by David L. Zeoff, employed by Federal Steel Supply Co. to construct a scaffold.

Zeoff seeks in excess of $15,000, contending that the scaffold was not securely attached to a building and gave way, causing a fall and injuries to his back, hips, legs, right arm, neck and jaw.

A non-constructive fall that caused several leg fractures is reported by a U. S. postal carrier, William Chrusciel.

He says he slipped on ice Feb. 11, 1981, while walking the front porch of the home of John Yuvar, 261 E. 27th St., after placing mail in the mailbox.

The suit relates that the accumulation of ice on a sidewalk was increased by moisture descending from a downspout near the walk. He seeks more than $15,000.

A case filed in Granite City in June by Martin Hartsch against Pamela Carney totals injuries suffered in a collision of two autos June 19, 1979, along Kingshighway near Aron Place in Washington Park.

In excess of $15,000 is sought by Hatfield in an adjustment of an Illinois Workers' Compensation Act claim with Harshany Electric.

Michael Kent Hill cites multiple injuries to the right knee, requiring surgery, due to a 3:10 a.m. April 20, 1980, collision 90 feet east of the center structure of Venice's McKinley Bridge over the Mississippi River.

He seeks over $15,000 from the City of Venice.

His motorcycle hit an allegedly unlighted barricade, causing him to fall onto the bridge pavement.

Another motorcyclist, Bryan K. Barnes, alleges he was hurt at 4 p.m. June 22, 1979, in a collision with the auto of James M. Derossit, who was making a turn into a driveway at 1912 Johnson Road.

Barnes asks for $50,000 due to multiple cuts and bruises to the head, back, arms and legs.

Clarence D. Kabat reports a $19,137 promissory note as a mortgage for sale of a residence at 1900 Sixth St., East Madison, Sept. 30, 1978, to Michael Kachadorian.

He is suing the First National Bank in Madison, contending that $9,475 was diverted. The suit asks for in excess of $15,000 and punitive damages of $250,000.

Alleging problems associated with treatment and surgery in June and July 1979, Sandra G. Coy is seeking damages from Dr. N. Nicolaides, urologist, and St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

A suit by Hollister Association, Holiday Shores Clubhouse, seeks $1,250 delinquent dues from Jerry Maeras of Madison.

Federation delegates to fight 'dismantling' of Illinois schools

Irene Orr, president of the Southwest Area Council of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, has announced that 15 area teachers will attend the 68th annual convention of the American Federation of Teachers July 5-10 in Denver, Colo.

The teachers selected as delegates and alternates are: Belleville Local 673, Joanne Rompel; Granite City Local 743, Shirley Stoll, Loreta Woolbright, Ginger Anders and Bill Watson; East St. Louis Local 1220, LaVondia M. Neely, Silas Bender and Vivian Anderson.

Cahokia Local 1272, Dale Goldsmith, Terry Osia, Linda Goldsmith, Bonnie Osia and Marti Geppert; Illinois Federation of Teachers, Ed Geppert; and Small Local Caucus, Carol Russell.

These delegates will be joined by several hundred Illinois teachers at the Denver site to form the second, largest state delegation at the 586-000-member union's national convention.

Approximately 3,000 delegates from across the country are expected to be in attendance.

One of the major convention issues will be to "create a plan of action to thwart several serious threats to public education."

The convention is expected to formulate a plan to stop President Ronald Reagan's proposed educational budget cuts, and plans will be made to attempt to stop the national tuition tax credit proposal.

According to Irene Orr, president of the Southwest Area Council of the Illinois Federation of Teachers, "The Reagan budget cuts, coupled with Governor James Thompson's proposed educational budget cuts, will create a disaster for Illinois schools this coming fall."

"The Federation will continue its efforts to prevent the dismantling of public education in Illinois,"

Arts advocacy group formed

More than 60 arts leaders and citizens concerned with public policy regarding the arts in Illinois have formed an official organization for statewide arts advocacy.

Concerned Citizens for the Arts, at its organizing meeting, strongly urged legislative support of Governor James Thompson's proposed funding level for the Illinois Arts Council for the 1981-82 fiscal year, as well as continued governmental support for artists, arts and cultural organizations, and citizen arts activities. Thompson has recommended a $3,155,100 IAC funding level.

Also, the group will undertake activities of public and legislative education designed to stimulate and encourage public and private sector support for the arts throughout Illinois.

The latest meeting, in June, occurred in response to current public discussions of the role of the public sector in support of cultural activities, and follows a May meeting in Chicago of more than 250 state arts leaders.

Attending were representatives of community arts councils, independent arts groups, educational institutions, labor, business, major cultural institutions and public broadcasting stations.

New business offers inventories of homes

A new business designed to aid homeowners in rebuilding after fires, tornadoes, burglaries or other property loss opened last week in Ponton Beach.

L & M Security Research Agency, 3981 Lake Drive, is prepared to assist all homeowners in conducting a full inventory of their homes and cataloging all items of value, including their serial numbers and photographs of the items.

Confidential listings of items of value are kept at the office, but have no names of addresses on them, only code numbers. The list of names and addresses is kept in a safe deposit box, so a thief from the business office will not provide would-be burglars with addresses where valuables are kept.

The owners of the new business are Randy Lamb and Richard McIntosh, both local law enforcement officers. Together, they have 23 years of law enforcement experience in this area. Lamb works with the St. Louis Major Case Squad and McIntosh is a trained fire investigator, in addition to their regular law enforcement duties.

Both have helped families try to rebuild after burglaries, fires and other tragedies and have found that the vast majority of families are unprepared. Few have lists of items of value, serial numbers for their televisions, stereos and other equipment.

"What we do is go into a customer's house and room by room, we inventory everything of value, taking photographs and listing serial numbers. When we are done, we keep a complete inventory on file which the homeowner can obtain should he ever have a fire, burglary or other property loss," Lamb explained.

"We also participate in Operation Identification and will engrave the owner's driver's license number on valuable items which do not have a serial number," he added.

A full home inventory will involve a listing of about 17 pages of valuables; "People have discovered," "People just do not realize how many valuable items they have in their homes. While we are conducting the inventory, we ask the owner what his television, stereo and other items would cost to replace today, not what he paid for it."

"Ninety percent of the time, the homeowner will find when the total value of items in his home is determined that he is underinsured and we have had customers take a copy of our inventory to their insurance agents to determine how much insurance they need," McIntosh explained.

After a full home inventory, if a homeowner experiences a burglary, fire or disaster, he need only obtain a copy of the inventory from L & M Security Research and begin the process of compensating items left in the home with the list to determine what was stolen and the value and serial numbers of the missing items.

"I have had a fire at my home and I know, it destroys everything and it is nearly an impossible job to list everything that was destroyed. I also found after the fire that I was about $19,000 underinsured and it cost me," Lamb said.

Having a complete listing and photograph of valuable items is a good aid to the people themselves and to the law enforcement agencies. It also can be helpful in recovering items which can be identified through serial numbers," Lamb and McIntosh said.

They said their basic price for an inventory of any four rooms is $69.95, plus $15 for 10 photographs. Additional rooms are $10 each and additional photographs requested by the homeowner are $1.25 each.

For a 12-room house, the cost for a full inventory would be $164 or less, they estimated. There is a $20 annual fee for records maintenance, which includes an updating any time the homeowner makes a major purchase or disposes of a piece of property, they explained.

The homeowner may, at any time, obtain his records from the L & M office and the maintenance charge will end, they pledged.

They said that with each inventory, the homeowner is given a written pledge binding the company and its employees to secrecy about the contents of each house. Records can only be released by the written permission of the homeowner, they said.

Lamb and McIntosh say they hope to expand the service in the near future to include computerized listing of serial numbers, by types of items such as refrigerators, television sets, stereos and other categories. Law enforcement agencies recovering stolen items then will be urged to call the company to check if the serial number matches any of those registered. The owner then can be notified that a police agency has recovered his property.

Study cause of 2 fires

Arson investigators are attempting to determine the causes of two fires last week in the city.

It appears gasoline or another flammable substance was poured along the outside of the home of Joe Begando, 2515 Lincoln Ave., and ignited at 5:45 p.m. Saturday.

The primary damage occurred on the front corner of the house. A plastic bottle which smelled of gasoline was found near the southwest corner of the house. No one was home when the fire broke out.

Firefighters had not prepared a damage estimate this morning. They fought the blaze for one hour.

Another fire broke out at 3:40 a.m. today at a vacant house at 2419 Missouri Ave., and the possibility of arson is being investigated. The fire started in a bedroom and spread through the building. Damage is estimated at $4,000 to the building and $2,000 to its contents.

Firefighters were there two hours and 45 minutes. Police were told the house was for sale and some neighbors objected to potential buyers who had looked at the house Sunday.

Burglar flees with jewelry

A burglar took a pillowcase from a bedroom of the French family's residence at 2609 Benton St. at 3 p.m. Thursday and fled with $1,000 worth of jewelry before escaping.

Missing are earrings, necklaces, watches and an antique statue. Entry was gained by forcing open a door.

The thief, 6 feet tall, 195 pounds, sandy brown hair described as bushy, was in his mid-30s.

He fled in an old red four-door auto driven by a large man of similar age; the driver had dark hair and a short beard.

TWO ARE HURT IN ST. CLAIR MISHAP

Church women plan blood drive

A post 4th of July blood drive will be held on three successive days this week. The drive is sponsored by the Quad-City Church Women United.

Church Women United is a cooperative effort of several local churches to promote, the health and welfare of citizens of all ages. Since 1973 this group has committed itself to sponsor blood drives in December and July, months of greatest blood needs.

The recently ended 4th of July holiday will bring a greatly increased need for blood.

There have been many automobile and other accidents, and due to hot weather, vacations, lay-offs and plant closings, there aren't enough donors.

Donors may contribute at St. Margaret Mary Church, 1900 St. Clair Ave. in Granite City on Tuesday, July 7, from 10 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.; on Wednesday, July 8, from 2 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.; or give at St. Mary's, 10th and Washington, in Madison on Thursday, July 9, from 2 p.m. to 6:45 p.m.

City Council

discussed, Schuler called the proposals "too severe," and said he felt the finance committee's approach was "like shooting a fly with a cannon."

The finance committee suggested the creation of a public works department, headed by the city engineer and including a traffic engineer, a public inspector, a building inspector and an air pollution control technician.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer, who has a degree in environmental engineering, could head up, the air pollution department as well as the public works department, saving one salary. A portion of Brewer's salary then would be paid by a federal air pollution control grant.

Overall, creation of such a department would eliminate seven employees, including Paula Case, head of the air pollution program, and would save approximately $180,000, according to Alderman Paul Ray.

Additional recommended cuts would increase the savings to approximately $200,000, Bowler estimated, saying the combination of the jobs of four part-time city attorneys into two jobs was among the recommended changes.

Schuler responded, saying, "You just can't cut everything. We are still open for changes, but not for atomic bombs."

He contended his proposed 10 percent cuts in the new budget would guide the city toward solvency in a sensible manner, without seriously affecting city services.

Speaking on this city's debt, Schuler stated, "I consider it a very serious matter, but it is not the end of the world or the end of the city. Crises have been met before and will be met again."

The council will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the township hall, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue.

Second 'Big Band' concert Thursday

The second concert in the "Big Band" series will take place at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Stearns Park, Amos Avenue and Johnson Road.

The concert is free to the public and is presented by the Granite City Park District with support from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the American Federation of Musicians, Local 717.

Drummer Stan Fornaszewski and his 18 piece band, known as the "Big Band Machine," will present a two-hour program with special features of Louie Bellson's drum classics, "Carnaby Street" and "LaBande Grande."

Other selections on the program will include: "A big band medley with 'String of Pearls,' 'Lil' Darlin,' 'Opus One,'

"Tuxedo Junction," "720 In the Books," "In the Mood," "Honeysuckle Rose," "Bellavia," "Gonna Fly Now."

"After the Loving," "The Fly," "Magic Trumpet," "Matchpoint," "Pagliacci," "Sir Duke," "A Train," "Sweet Caroline," "Told You So," "Sunshine Swing" and "Bye Bye to the Birds."

Other concerts remaining in the "Big Band" series are planned Thursday, July 23, at Lincoln Plaza Community Center, 222 Niedringhaus Ave.; Thursday, Aug. 6, at Worthen Park, Maryville Road and Parkway Drive; and Thursday, Aug. 13, at Wilson Park.

THREE CHARGES ARE FILED ON JULY 4TH

Joseph L. McMaster, 17, of 2300 Wilson Ave. was arrested at 10:55 p.m. Saturday, July 4, on the Corral Liquors parking lot on charges of battery, criminal trespass and disorderly conduct.

Another person, seeking to make a purchase while the store was closing, fled on foot after striking the Corral Liquors' manager, Gene Roentz, on the face and forehead with his fists. McMaster allegedly kicked Roentz in the stomach.

Fields as causing a current imbalance between the revenue and expenditures.

Because the sewer district is not a free-standing governmental agency, it cannot borrow funds from banks or similar sources.

Instead, the county loaned the special service area $97,500 from the county government's motor fuel tax fund reserves. On June 17, repayment of that sum was authorized and $300,000 was loaned to the sewer district from the county's federal aid matching fund.

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer commented June 17 that the sewer district was initially described as a service that "would not cost the county a dime."

Hagnauer added that he still believes it will cost nothing, and that it will prove of great benefit to the Quad-Cities and the county through improving community life and attracting new residents, commerce and jobs.

Auditor Fields said he shares this positive view, and pointed out that, as additional businesses and homes are built in the sewer service area, the base that supports governmental services will expand.

Louis Whitsell resigned as sewer committee chairman June 24 in opposition to the monthly rate increase proposed by the committee.

Among the points assailed was the County Board's decision to "pay the contractor out of the monthly maintenance fund." He should be paid for construction work from the bond issue and state grant money," Whitsell asserted.

He also voiced fear that the County Board's finance committee will persuade the board to make the final payment to the contractor before there is a full agreement—an agreement that would remedy what Whitsell regards as "still unresolved problems associated with the installation work."

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith obtained board approval at the meeting for himself, the county auditor, the sewer committee chairman and the finance committee chairman to negotiate a settlement with the contractor of up to half of $391,331 owed at present to the contractor.

Smith stressed that the county has been paying 20 percent annual interest on the amount it owes the contractor. He warned that each passing month has been costing thousands of dollars that can never be recovered.

Whitsell and other committee members have voiced concern that Smith may prevail on the board to take a variety of actions detrimental to Quad-Cities as the sewer committee.

It was only after an impassioned plea by Morris Miles of the sewer committee that the board agreed to delay until July 15 consideration of Ordinance 81-4, a comprehensive new law proposed by Smith to regulate the sewer program.

Miles said the sewer committee had not had the opportunity to become familiar with the thick listing of proposed regulations. But he only barely succeeded in gaining a month's delay despite his appeal for committee participation.

Among the recommendations opposed by Whitsell and Miles is a

Valuations cut

"Byron stated that various (possible) irregularities in the use of certificates of error had been found, where unjustified reductions in assessments had been made."

"Byron requested the investigation to ascertain if the supervisor of assessment with the thick listing of proposed regulations. But he only barely succeeded in gaining a month's delay despite his appeal for committee participation."

"Approximately 1,600 certificates were reviewed."

"During this initial examination, the DCI agents found certificates of error issued for two broad categories: personal property reductions, and real property reductions."

"Due to the voluminous amount of certificates, the agents concentrated only on the reductions of real property. The four in reviewing the individual certificates of error that four categories of error were described on the front of the certificates."

"The categories are: mistake in computation, duplicate assessment, improvements destroyed or impaired prior to the assessment date, and incorrect description of property assessed."

"The DCI agents found that in the last three categories, there was normally a description of the error on the front of the certificate."

"On the certificates marked 'mistake in computation,' it was generally found there was no description of the error, nor was there any type of documentation for the reduction in assessed valuation."

"Due to the fact that there are 24 townships in Madison County, the scope of investigation was limited to two of the major townships, Collinsville and Granite City."

"Certificates for these townships were researched for the tax years 1974, 1975, 1976 and 1977."

"It was found that certificates of error were issued for certain properties for the entire four-year period examined."

"The agents then prepared a list of properties and proceeded to research the records of the county treasurer's office to show the original assessments, the reduced assessment due to reduction by certificates of error, and the actual taxes paid by the property owner for the tax years under examination."

"Collinsville Assessor Peter Poletti Jr. and Granite City Assessor Von Dee Cruse were contacted and reviewed the list of properties for their respective townships."

"Both township assessors gave their professional opinions as to whether or not the assessment reductions on particular pieces of property in their respective townships were warranted."

"The agents then began interviews of various owners whose property was under examination."

"The agents next interviewed a former employee of the county assessment office; the current assistant supervisor of assessments; former and present members of the Board of Review; and the supervisor of assessments."

"Many certificates issued (possibly) were not in conformance with Chapter 120, Section 526, of the Illinois Revised Statutes."

"There also is the question of the propriety of the issuance of a certificate of error, reducing the assessment on a property, without proper documentation and/or physical inspection of the property," Lauer said in his summary.

Portell sues

"The present space is so limited there is not adequate room for the proper discharge of the duties and obligations of the clerks of the court."

He asserts he has in the past done everything within his authority to alleviate the space problem through the negotiation and obtaining of office space as satellite clerk/clerk offices in Alton, Collinsville, East Alton, Granite City and Wood River.

With the defendants allegedly refusing to provide "reasonable and adequate office space and vault storage space," Portell says it is "extremely difficult and is becoming impossible to properly store court records, documents and evidence, which it is his duty to do, pursuant to the laws of this state."

"Employees are forced to work under conditions which are unhealthy, inadequate for the proper performance of their duties, and which constitute a fire hazard due to the difficulties which would be encountered by the necessary rapid exit of such employees."

Those named in the suit are the 29 members of the County Board and specifically Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and the building committee and its chairman, Charles Bode.

Cahokia manager to protest forfeit

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Tri-City Manager Eldon Warfield stood on the mound, studying the signs of the catcher. He wound up, then unleashed a belt-high fastball.

The echo from the aluminum bat silenced the fans still waiting in the bleachers. They then cheered as the leftfielder made a shoe-string catch.

It was the only excitement of the evening for the Triplet fans, but none was complaining.

Cahokia Post 784, which had just defeated a hot Belleville team the night before, was no place in sight, and forfeited the district contest to the Triplets. Final score: Triplets 7, Cahokia 0.

"We'll take them any way we can," said Warfield, as he and his players entertained the few fans still hoping for an evening of baseball. "I'm really surprised they have been playing pretty good baseball lately."

And Warfield wasn't the only manager that was in for a surprise Thursday night.

At 7:30, Manager Billy McIntyre and the rest of the Cahokia Team strolled onto the Granite City Sports Complex, expecting to play an 8 p.m. game. The field was empty. The umpires had gone home. There was to be no game. McIntyre, contacted at his home Friday, was "damned mad." "I have already protested the game to Wayne Wirz (District 22 Baseball Chairman). I was not notified that Granite City's games had been moved to 6 p.m."

"Hell, we're too far up in the standings to be forfeiting ballgames. I think that we should play the game over," McIntyre said.

Warfield disagreed. "As far as I'm concerned, it was a victory for us. It is certainly not our fault that they didn't show up. We were there to play ball, and they weren't. To me, that's a forfeit."

"A team has to be on top of things when they are in a league race. Right now, I think I'd go to the diamond even if a game was rained out. You just can't take any chances."

Warfield said that he has not been contacted by league officials about a protest being filed by

McIntyre. "I guess we'll just have to wait and see, but right now all I'm concerned about is East St. Louis Monday night. It is too late in the season and the schedule is too tight to be rescheduling games."

The victory gave Tri-City an 11-5 record in the North Division, one game behind Alton. The loss dropped Cahokia's record to 9-7. At least for now.

Astro Travel tops tourney

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Astro Travel Manager Duane Spencer would have been real proud of his girls Saturday afternoon.

All that they did was defeat VFW Post 1300 in the championship game of the Granite City Park District's Women's Fourth of July Tournament held last week at Wilson Park.

But a business trip kept Spencer from guiding his team. But they survived without him.

VFW struck first with a single run in the first inning, but a strong Astro Travel defense, which turned two double plays in the championship contest, held off any other VFW threat to earn the championship trophy.

Led by a two-run triple by Ann Chepley, Astro Travel scored three runs in the fourth inning to take a 3-1 lead. They then scored a solo run in the fifth inning to preserve the victory.

And their coaches, Randy Chout and Kenda Spencer, gave all of the credit to the players.

"The girls just played great defense, and defense is the name of the game. We turn two double plays to kill their rallies, and then we get a timely hit by Ann Chepley. The girls just played together," Spencer said.

And Chout agreed. "We believe in hustle, and the girls proved that in this tournament. They ran on and off the field, and just deserved to win this ballgame."

And both wished that their manager could have been at Wilson Park Saturday afternoon.

Duane would have been real proud of his girls today. They just played the kind of softball that he has been teaching them all season," said Spencer.

And while both coaches wished that the manager could have been there, Astro Travel got along just fine without him, as proved by the miniature trophies in the girls' hands, and the large trophy in front of the team as they smiled for several cameras.

"Yeah, Duane would be real proud."

Zantigo plays for fun; wins tourney

By TERRY MACKIN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The team huddled around an assortment of cars, closer to the road than the softball field at Worthen Park. Beer cans and miniature trophies occupied their hands. Gloves decorated the hoods of the cars.

Just minutes before, Zantigo's was crowned as champions of the Granite City Park District's Mens Fourth of July Tournament, by a forfeit by Doc's Blues. They had not been a game in the week-long tournament, and were proud. But they did not boast.

To them, it was still just a game. Play hard and hustle. Play as a team. But most of all have fun, the way games are meant to be.

To the Zantigo's slow-pitch softball team, sports are a way to relax, to exercise, to get together with friends and drink beer.

It was hard not to mention the baseball strike to a group of guys that spend many summer nights playing softball without a penny in return and couldn't be happier.

The team manager, Ray Carter, spoke first.

"What is a summer without baseball? I think that both the owners and the players are at fault, but it is already too late. I really don't expect to see any more baseball this season."

John Harrison, who plays first and third base for Zantigo's, then spoke up.

"Yeah, sure I miss it. I wish the two sides would just sit down and work out a compromise. Saturday television has really been boring this year," Harrison said, as his teammates poked fun at his comment.

Rightfielder Larry Wofford took an apathetic view of the strike.

"They may as well stay out the rest of the year. But I think that the people involved with concessions are really the victims of the strike. And they are the only ones who really need the money."

Wofford said that he had attended "six or seven games" before the strike, but "really didn't care" if they played this season.

"I just really don't care. I play softball a lot, so I stay pretty busy."

Andy Miosky took a more local view of the strike, citing the recent cutbacks made in Granite City.

"It is hard to see the point of the strike when they both make too much money. Once we get our police and firemen back to work, then I'll worry about a strike. Miosky then referred to a player that broke his ankle the night before at Worthen Park. "It took the ambulance an awful long time to get here," Miosky said, as he shook his head and took another drink of Busch.

As the discussion grew, the players talked louder. As usual, it didn't long for the umpires to become involved in the discussion. "Baseball is a business."

There is an awful lot of money invested in those players. But I hope they stay out. I really don't miss them playing at all," said Vic Buehler, who was to umpire the championship game.

Then Jack Hinterser offered his opinion.

"The owners should not have to open up their books. That is their business as owners. But it is the fans that are really suffering."

And Hinterser feels that it will take a while for the wound to heal.

"For many union people in this area, it will take quite awhile. There is hard feelings. I feel that some fans really resent this strike."

Slowly, the Zantigo players headed for their cars. A few still chatted. Most had holiday affairs to attend and left after finishing their beer. Some left with can in hand.

They had done what they had sought to do. A simple trophy meant a championship to them. And they had fun doing it.

The way games are meant to be.

Blues strengthen defense

ST LOUIS — What Emile Francis wants, he gets. Even if it takes him five years to get it.

The St. Louis Blues acquired defenseman Scott Campbell Friday in a five-player trade with the Winnipeg Jets Friday in an attempt to bolster their lacking defense.

Campbell, the Blues No. 1 pick and the ninth overall selection in the 1977 draft, was traded along with left-winger John Markell to the Blues in exchange for defenseman Bryan Maxwell, back-up goalie Ed Stanowski, and left-winger Paul MacLean.

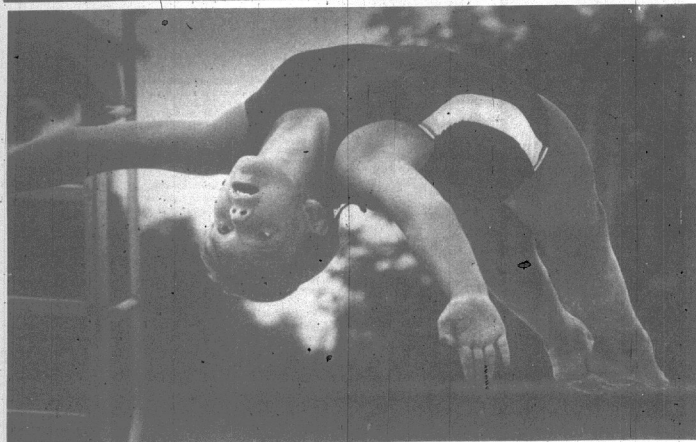

Campbell, who is 6-foot-2 and weighs 215 pounds, was hindered by a shoulder injury last year and played in only 14 games for the Jets, scoring one goal and 14 assists. He collected 55 minutes in penalties.

Markell, who played with Blues goalie Mike Liut while both were attending Bowling Green University, split time last year between Winnipeg and the Jets top farm team at Tulsa in the Central Hockey League.

In exchange, the Jets obtained Maxwell, who played in 46 games for the Blues last year with four goals and ten assists. They also obtained Stanowski, who posted a 10-3 record and had a 4.28 goals against average in 19 games with the Blues as a backup to Liut.

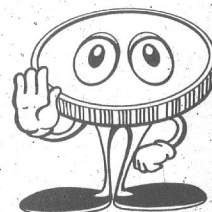

MacLean played last season at the Blue's top farm team at Salt Lake City.

USSF sets annual meeting

NEW YORK — The Restructure Committee's proposal to alter the Federation's structure will be the key topic of discussion when the United States Soccer Federation convenes its 65th Annual General Meeting, July 1-5 in Seattle, Wash. The Washington State Soccer Association will serve as host for the AGM.

A major part of the Restructure proposal would establish three USSF divisions — Senior, Youth and a future Professional — and includes rules entitling all three divisions to equal voting rights on the National Board of Directors and National Council.

The Restructure proposal, initiated by the Council's resolution at the 1980 AGM in Miami Beach, was submitted to the USSF membership April 1. The Restructure Committee's proposal has been reviewed by the Restructure Committee and will be presented for consideration at the opening session of the Council, July 2.

While there will be numerous subjects presented at our annual meeting in Seattle, the one of intense interest will be consideration of the Restructure Committee's recommendation," said USSF President Gene Edwards. "The Restructure proposal will need an objective, independent review before its passage or defeat since this will affect the Federation and its ability to function for years to come."

Meetings of the National Board of Directors, Youth Executive Committee, Rules and Revision Committee, and various other committees will coincide with the AGM.

Steamers name Trost

ST. LOUIS, MO. — The St. Louis Steamers of the Major Indoor Soccer League have named a native St. Louisan to direct the team as their new head coach. Al Trost, 32, signed a two year contract with the Steamers. The contract will run through the 1982-83 season with an option for renewal the following year.

Trost, who joins the Steamers from the Seattle Sounders of the North American Soccer League, thus concludes one of the most impressive and significant playing careers in the history of the American soccer player. He began his professional playing career in 1973 with the St. Louis Cardinals, where he performed as a midfielder for 5 seasons.

He accompanied the team to California as a member of the Surf in 1978 and was traded to Seattle in 1979. He's been with Seattle ever since. In 3 outdoor seasons, he's scored 39 goals and accounted for 24 assists.

He has also played indoor soccer for the New York Arrows of the MISL in 1979-80 and for Seattle this past season. His two year indoor statistics total 9 goals and 16 assists.

Trost began his playing career in the CYC program in the late 1950's. In his formative years, he played at parishes including Holy Rosary, St. Engelbert's, and St. Philip Neri. He went on to play for four years at Prep South, graduating in 1967 and accepting a scholarship to play at St. Louis University.

It was at St. Louis University that Al Trost became one of the greatest soccer players ever developed in the St. Louis area. In both his junior and senior years, he was awarded the prestigious Robert R. Hermann Trophy, signifying the best collegiate soccer player in the United States. Both of those Billiken teams won the NCAA Championship, and Trost was twice named to the All American Squad.

In 1972 he was a member of the United States Olympic Team that competed in Munich. That team was coached by the present coach at SIU-Edwardsville, Bob Gueller. In 1976, he captained the United States World Cup Team.

While playing for the Stars in St. Louis, Trost embarked on a separate career coaching. He was the head mentor at McCluer North High School for five seasons, and, in 1975, his team captured the Missouri State High School Championship.

Trost, his wife Edna and sons Tim, 5, and Eric, 2, will move back to St. Louis. The family is expecting its fifth member in late August.

Steamers director Jerry Clinton, Chairman of the club's special selection committee, said, "We had a number of recommendations for Al Trost. We visited last week and had a fine exchange of ideas. I can say for all of us connected with the steamers that we're very impressed."

Ben Kerner, the club's Chief Executive Officer, echoed Clinton's sentiments. "We'd been receiving requests from all over," Kerner said, "but we kept hearing Al Trost's name again and again. That's why he was the first candidate interviewed."

Trost commented, "I've played professional indoor soccer two seasons and I'm really enthusiastic about it. In fact, long ago I nursed the hope that it would be recognized as a professional sport."

"It will be a challenge, but I share the feeling of many individuals that the Americanization of indoor soccer is of utmost importance. I know the majority of our players and it's a fine squad."

After signing with the Steamers, Trost expressed a desire to aid the further development of soccer in the St. Louis area. He will, and, in 1975, his team contributed personal funds in the amount of $1,000.00 per year, $500.00 going to St. Louis University for a scholarship bearing his name and $500.00 to the CYC of St. Louis. Clinton announced that the Steamer organization will match those amounts and contribute to both funds.

Steamer President Stan Musial, a member of the screening committee along with Clinton, Kerner, Jack Garagnani, and General Manager Mike Sanger, expressed the feelings of the club's Board of Directors. "We all feel we're moving forward with the addition of Al Trost to the Steamer organization. His record in all of soccer, both amateur and professional, is impeccable."

Spencer receives Brundage award

URBANA — Recipients of 1981-82 Avery Brundage Scholarships have been announced by the University of Illinois.

The 28 winners, recognized for academic and athletic excellence, include Granite City's Karen Spencer, who won the award in soccer.

Newell Dr. in softball, soccer and volleyball.

The Brundage scholarship fund was established in 1974 with an initial gift of $343,000 from the late Avery Brundage, honorary president of the International Olympic Committee and a U. of I. alumnus.

Each award carries a grant of $900. The winners are in the top quarter of their undergraduate college or in good standing in their graduate or professional program. They also have shown special ability in athletics.

Many of the athletes have competed in intramural or on community teams. Others have worked independently to qualify for national and international competitions. The awards are not a subsidy for grants-in-aid; and intercollegiate sports participation is not a factor in choosing the winners.

Some of the Brundage scholars have taught, coached, worked at summer camps or officiated at intercollegiate sports.

The 1981-82 winners include undergraduate, graduate, dentistry, medicine and law students from all three campuses of the university. Ten of the winners are women; eighteen are men. Nine have won Brundage scholarships before.

The winners' sports include hockey, volleyball, track and field, racquetball, softball, basketball, cross country, canoeing, rowing, soccer, basketball, tennis, scuba diving, swimming, sailing, fencing, golf, gymnastics, table tennis, billiards, cross-country skiing and water skiing.

The Avery Brundage Scholarship fund committee was composed of faculty and students from all three U. of I. campuses.

Cougars sign two Casey, Ill., stars

EDWARDSVILLE — An impressive battery from Casey, Ill. have signed letters of intent to play women's softball for SIUE, the Cougars coach, Cindy Jones has announced.

The pitcher is Sandy Montgomery, a 17-year-old hurler whose statistics almost boggle the mind. She posted a 52-6 four-year career total at Casey High with a 0.81 ERA.

But most impressive were her senior-year statistics. She posted a 16-1 record with a 0.51 ERA, including 10 shutouts, three no-hitters, and one perfect game. She also contributed a .418 batting average.

Montgomery's battery mate, catcher Cathy Sondag, also signed with the Cougars. Said Coach Jones, "Cathy is a solid catcher with good size, an extremely accurate arm, and alot of speed on the bases. I would expect her to be a starter for the Cougars during the 1982 season at SIUE."

SUPER STARS

Sports Talk

Right fielders. To paraphrase comic Rodney Dangerfield, get no respect. Many managers in Little League through semi-pro ball think they can hide a poor fielder in right field. They're dead wrong.

Major league managers are just singled to right. What do you do? If you know enough to hit the proper cutoff man in these sessions, it will be second nature in a game when it counts.

Right fielders like Dave Parker, and his predecessor Roberto Clemente, both had arms like slingshots. Yet, they knew enough about the game not to make futile attempts to get basemen.

For instance, with runners on second and third on a long fly to right field there might not be a chance of getting the runner tagging up from third. However, by making a throw home, the runner on second might also advance a base. A good right fielder knows enough to hold that second runner where he is.

There are other problems right fielders also must deal with. The elements, for example. Dave Parker will take a few flies in practice so he knows how to deal with a troublesome sun during a game. Before a game, the Super Star will also learn to gauge the wind to judge how well a ball might carry.

If you play in a stadium, practice playing balls off the wall. Surely, you've seen guys like Parker play caroms off the wall. They're not just hitting balls to long singles. They're hitting them to long singles.

You can also maximize your throwing ability. By practicing with a weighted ball — a ball that's damp, for instance — the game ball will appear lighter and you'll be able to throw it harder. If you don't have a great throwing arm you can help your cause by getting the ball back quickly, throwing the ball on a line and hitting your cutoff man in perfect position — right at his chest.

Mixed economic outlook in state

The Illinois unemployment rate increased by two-tenths of a percentage point in May to 8.7 percent, while the U.S. rate rose by three-tenths during the same period to 7.6 percent.

April unemployment figures for Illinois counties, the latest available, show the rate in 32 counties was below the U.S. April figure of 7.3 percent.

Menard County had an April unemployment rate of 4.5, the lowest in the state, according to Illinois Economic Data Sheets released by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs. A total of 13 counties had April rates of six percent or below. Those counties included Carroll, 5.5; Champaign 5.4; DeKalb 6.0; Douglas 5.7; Edwards 5.0; Hancock 6.0; Iroquois 5.8; Kendall 5.7; Marshall 5.8; McDonough 5.6; McLean 5.9; and Woodford 5.7. The overall Illinois rate for April was 8.5 percent.

April unemployment rates in the state's major population centers were as follows: Bloomington 5.9 percent, Champaign 5.4, Chicago 7.8, Moline-Rock Island 7.7, Decatur 11.2, Peoria 8.4, Rockford 9.3, Springfield 6.3 and Madison-St. Clair counties, 9.9 percent.

Illinois contracts for future construction were up by 17 percent in April compared to one year ago, while the increase nationally for the same period was 30 percent.

In March, Illinois future construction contracts were up by 65 percent, while the U.S. rate climbed by only 37 percent.

Illinois construction was off by 32 and 5 percent, respectively, during January and February while the U.S. rate was off 4 percent and up 2 percent, respectively, for the same two months.

Illinois retail sales in February, the latest month for which figures were available, were up by 3.6 percent compared to a year ago, while U.S. retail sales were up by 5.3 percent.

Chicago city retail sales were off by 3.9 percent for the same period, but up by 3.6 in the total Chicago metropolitan area.

Department store sales in the state's major cities registered the following changes for the same period, February 1980 to February 1981: Chicago up 0.8, Rock Island up 6.8, Decatur up 5.1, Peoria down 1.2, Rockford up 4.3, Madison-St. Clair counties up 4.2 percent, Springfield up 3.0, Danville up 0.6, Quincy up 8.4 and Chicago central business district down 7.1.

The Chicago consumer price index increased in April by 9.8 percent to 283.7, while the U.S. consumer price index rose by 10 percent to 286.8. That marked the second consecutive month the Chicago index increase was below the U.S. index increase.

The total number of state employees, including education, was 119,512 in April, a decrease from the March figure of 119,824.

The state payroll in April was $157.5 million, compared to $152.3 million in March. The beginning available balance in the state's general fund was $202 million in June, up $68 million from May's beginning balance.

Handrails planned at Arch entrances

The National Park Service is seeking bids for a contract to furnish all labor, materials, tools and equipment for fabricating, installing and painting handrails at the entrance ramps to the Gateway Arch in St. Louis.

The new handrails are to be fabricated from rectangular steel tubing, four inches wide, two inches in depth, and a wall thickness of 0.188 inch. The 700 feet of railing will receive one coat of red oxide primer and a finish coat of black enamel.

The work is to be completed within 30 days after start, between the hours of 8 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Since the Arch has very high visitor traffic at the entrance ramps during the summer months, no installation work may take place prior to Sept. 15.

Information for prospective bidders may be obtained from P. J. Brown, assistant chief of park maintenance. Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. July 28.

BURGLARY DISMISSAL. In an April 12 Madison burglary case, a charge against Larry L. Cox, 26, of 205 Allen St. was dismissed in June by Circuit Judge A. J. Matosian on a motion by the state's attorney.

Pupils pay one-third of cost of lunch

Last year, children paid only about a third of the actual cost of their school lunches, according to a new report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

School lunches cost local school food authorities between $1.36 and $1.66 to prepare, depending on the type of kitchen facility in which the meals were prepared.

Data from the spring of 1980 showed that children nationwide paid an average of 56 cents for the lunch at school. Roughly half of the meal costs go for food, and 34 to 40 percent of costs pay for labor.

The report outlines cost participation and nutritional impact data requested from USDA by Congress in Senate bill S. 1000 (June 1979).

To come up with the nationwide data that Congress wanted, USDA conducted three major studies: an assessment of the costs required to prepare school meals, a study of the effects of nutritional education in several states, and an evaluation of the nutritional impact of USDA's school-based programs, the latter will be completed until January 1982.

The nationwide studies gathered data from more than 2,000 school districts.

A more complete treatment of the issues of nutritional impact, income and equipment for participants, targeting of benefits, and impact on the agricultural economy, all were addressed in the study.

The federal government is examining the desirability of preempting state laws on the subject by eliminating interest rate ceilings nationwide.

A number of legislatures in major industrialized states have recently eliminated ceilings on interest rates.

Recommendations for the elimination of usury ceilings were addressed in two government reports released this year. They are a White House study for Congress and a report presented by the Illinois Commission on Economic Development to the 82nd General Assembly and the governor.

HB 438 received the backing of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Illinois Credit Union League, Illinois Bankers Association, Association for Modern Banking in Illinois, and Illinois Consumer Finance Association, as well as other members of the consumer lending industry.

6-year correctional sentence in robbery

A six-year state correctional term was ordered in June by Circuit Judge A. J. Matosian to be served by Jeffrey A. Voss, 2213 Grand Ave.

An armed robbery occurred May 31, and the charge was filed June 19. A motion was approved to handle the case as a criminal court division proceeding.

PROBATION ON THEFT. Michael Duff, 18, of 4501 Highway 162 was placed on a year of probation and fined $200 in June by Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand at a Sept. 21, 1980, theft in Troy, Ill. The charge was amended to petty theft.

6000 IN QUARTERS. Madison Garrett Jr., reported last week that his liquor store at 337 Weaver St., Venice, had been burglarized and over $600 in cash taken of which $600 was in wrapped quarters. Forced entry was made both to enter the building and enter the office.

THEFT SENTENCING. Rita M. Wimberly, 51, of 115 Grenzer, Home, Madison, was sentenced in late June to six months of conditional discharge on a June 4 petty theft. Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand presided.

Guild objects to conduct of GC Journal union vote

Objections to the conduct of a June 25 union election at the Granite City Journal have been filed with the National Labor Relations Board by the St. Louis Newspaper Guild Local 47, which seeks to become the exclusive agent for employees of the Journal.

Granite City Journal employees voted six yes and six no on the union election, but the results will not be final until six other contested votes are found to be valid or invalid by the NLRB.

The latest objection to the conduct of the election, filed last week by the Guild, also must be resolved before the final outcome of the election is known.

In the objection, the Guild charges that the NLRB representative of the day of the election acted wrongly in prohibiting Tina Hamilton, a former Journal employee, from serving as an observer of the election.

It also charges the Journal with issuing communications to its employees "containing false and misleading statements intended to create fear, mislead the employees, omit all of the relevant facts and thus deprive the election of its laboratory conditions."

Also, that "assessments as to dues, required to be paid, and may be used to support political candidates, which again is under various circumstances violative of federal law as to federal candidates and others."

The objection also charges that employees were told "that the alternative for the Post-Dispatch request for a moratorium, was that the Post-Dispatch would no longer be published and all workers lose their employment."

"Wherefore, petitioner moves that the election conducted June 25, 1981, be set aside and held for naught," the objection asks.

Charge 2 in home burglary

Steven L. Moody, 17, of 2146 E. 12th St., was charged with burglary and a juvenile petition is to be issued against a 16-year-old resident of the 2800 block of Center Street in connection with a burglary last week at the home of Eugene Maples.

A neighbor told police three youths had been seen around the Maples' home at 11 p.m. Monday and again Tuesday.

When the light came on inside the house, police were called. Officers surrounded the house and took an 18-year-old into custody who was seen leaving the area on a bicycle.

When the 18-year-old was knocked on the front door of the house, the interior light went out, but there was no answer at the door.

Officers had the police dispatcher call the house on the telephone, but there was no answer. Patrolmen Roger Hayes and Don Petrillo entered the back door, which was found open, and the 16-year-old ran out the front door, where he was taken into custody by waiting officers. It was reported.

Police alleged finding Moody in the kitchen. In his possession were a pair of women's gloves, a 1921 silver dollar in a plastic case, a 1945 half-dollar money clip and eight tickets to the Muny Opera.

Two bedrooms had been ransacked, according to official reports. There were signs the back door had been pried open, but bolt lock prevented its opening.

The three youths were taken to the police station pending the filing of charges.

The 18-year-old was released Tuesday when the Madison County state's attorney's office ruled there was insufficient evidence to link him to the burglary.

Moody's bond was set at $10,000 cash and he was jailed.

6000 IN QUARTERS. Madison Garrett Jr., reported last week that his liquor store at 337 Weaver St., Venice, had been burglarized and over $600 in cash taken of which $600 was in wrapped quarters. Forced entry was made both to enter the building and enter the office.

THEFT SENTENCING. Rita M. Wimberly, 51, of 115 Grenzer, Home, Madison, was sentenced in late June to six months of conditional discharge on a June 4 petty theft. Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand presided.

Home food canning can be hazardous to family's health

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

If you are following the trend, you are relying more and more on your own produce or farmers' markets for your fresh fruits and vegetables. And more people are home-canning this produce.

The Illinois Department of Public Health advises home-canners to follow established canning procedures, observe correct cooking times and temperatures, check for defective equipment, and use canning equipment carefully.

Illness caused by home-canned food may range from mild to severe, and may even cause death.

Generally, signs of spoiled food are obvious — mold, leaks, bubbling, bulging lids, rancid odors, and unpleasant odors. Do NOT TASTE such food. Destroy it, or dispose of it out of the reach of children.

A serious type of food poisoning — botulism — can occur if home-canned foods are not cooked long enough and at temperatures high enough to destroy the spores of the spoilage organism, Clostridium botulinum.

Botulism spores are found nearly everywhere in the soil, and these are commonly found on vegetables, fruit, and even meat and fish.

When insufficiently heated, the spores will produce fatally poisonous toxin in non-acid canned foods.

Spoilage forms gas, causing swelling and leaking of the jars, and usually an objectionable odor similar to rancid butter.

Spoiled home-canned foods should never be tasted, and all home-canned non-acid vegetables and meats should be boiled 10 minutes or longer before serving. If that is done, any botulism toxin present will be destroyed.

When canning food, the following precautions should be taken:

Use only lids, seals and jars manufactured specifically for home canning. Do not reuse sealing lids; buy new seals, rings and lids. Use grinders or other food appliances with caution. Make sure canning boilers are stable before heating the water. Be careful not to splash scalding water during the processing or when removing hot jars from the boiling water bath.

Do not pour cold water over hot canning jars, or set hot jars on cold surfaces. If any of the lids fail to seal, read the instructions again and reprocess the food.

O. My fiancée and I are getting married in about a month. We both have jobs and are budgeting our income. How much should we plan to spend on housing?

A. As recently as two years ago the standard was to spend no more than 25 percent of your regular monthly earnings for housing and utilities. In 1975, a clear majority of American consumers were able to do this (about 82% spent less than a quarter of their income for housing) with comparative ease.

With the heavy doses of inflation and rapid escalation in energy costs during the past five years, currently almost half (46%) of the population now exceeds the 25% guide for housing and utilities. Although accurate figures are hard to pin down since they have been changing so rapidly, estimates now are that a family may spend as much as 35% of their salary for housing and utilities. This kind of strain on family income makes responsible financial planning and budgeting all the more important.

Wheat used for feeding

By RONALDCORNWELL

County Farm Advisors said swine producers should keep a sharp eye on the record wheat crop that is expected in the United States this year. If the market responds as expected to a record wheat crop, swine producers may be able to purchase wheat at prices equal to or lower than prices for corn.

The decision to substitute wheat in a swine ration should be based on economics. If a pound of wheat is cheaper than a pound of corn, consider substitution.

To reduce palatability problems, substitute no more than 30 percent of the grain portion of the ration with wheat.

Wheat should be coarsely ground. Grinding wheat too finely may result in a ration that doesn't flow well in a self-feeder and may cause poor feed intake and performance.

When you substitute wheat, pound for pound for corn, wheat rations have higher crude protein than corn rations. So, for every 100 pounds of wheat used to replace corn, reduce the protein supplement 2 to 3 pounds.

Some gardeners are reporting a condition where the leaves of the plant are rolling like the tomato plant is under drought stress. This is a physiological condition called leafroll.

Leafroll is not a disease. It is a non-infectious condition which causes the leaves to become stiff and roll inward, usually starting on the lower part of the plant and progressing upward to the top leaves.

The plants normally bear a normal crop of fruit. However, you will probably have a greater loss of fruit through the season, from sunburning conditions.

Lots of fertilizer and hot weather will produce the quality of grass you often see on golf course greens.

Meyer Zoyasia will thrive during the summer season when you fertilize and cut edge. Established zoyasia lawns should be fertilized every June with a double application of lawn fertilizer. New plantings of zoyasia should be fertilized every 1990.

month, starting in June, to promote the steady growth you expect. For the monthly applications in June, July and August, use a lawn fertilizer and follow the bag recommendations.

Close cutting favors zoyasia while it weakens bluegrass and most weeds. Special mowers are often used to achieve the golf course cut of 1/4 to 3/8 inch long.

Frequent cutting can easily produce a putting green effect during the summer months.

Shade and cold weather prevent zoyasia from becoming the sweetheart of every home owner. Zoyasia does not grow well in shade, and turns brown (dormant) in the winter.

Zoyasia is often grown as a backyard grass because it's wear resistance and beauty is appreciated during the summer and its dormancy and yellow color are not seen during the winter.

Don't Let 'Em Get Away!

We spend millions of dollars to educate and train our community's young people...the finest "crop" of all we produce.

Then we watch them steal away to other cities, other states, where they believe opportunities are greater.

Why can't WE, right here at home, offer them the career futures they seek in distant places? Why not try to keep our home-raised talent at home?

Our stores, factories and service firms could offer lots more job opportunities if they did more business. They'd HAVE more business quickly, if we would quit buying items and services out of town.

Shopping here at home is the best insurance we have to keep our local businesses strong and growing...to provide brighter futures for our precious young people.

Nicholas Perrot erected a fort on Lake Pepin, Minn., and on May 8, 1689, took possession of the country in the name of the king of France.

Lindsay-Bezan

Miss Nancy Bezan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bezan, 3145 Myrtle Ave., and Glenn Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lindsay, 3200

Maryville Road, exchanged wedding vows in an early evening ceremony on May 30 at the First Assembly of God Church.

Bouquets of white gladioli with touches of blue adorned the sanctuary of the church for the double ring ceremony performed at 6 p.m. by the Rev. C. Dale Edwards.

Wedding music was pre-recorded and performed by contemporary Christian artists who are friends of the bridal couple.

Selections included "Hallelujah," "Ballade For Rod," "This Day," "It's The Way," "Woman, The Man That I Love," "Make My Life a Prayer," and "Now and Forever More."

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Bezan chose a formal white organza over taffeta gown fashioned with a sleeveless empire bodice featuring a high neckline enhanced with Cluny and Venice lace ruffles that created a short sleeve effect. A deep Cluny lace flounce, edged with Venice lace, encircled the semi-full skirt and chapel train.

She wore a lace and pearl camelot cap to hold in place her scallop fingertip veil, edged with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of silk blue roses, white carnations and baby's breath, tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Michele Bezan, a sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, with bridesmaids, Mrs. Debby Bezan, a sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Donna Herbig, the groom's sister.

They were gowned alike in peasant style blue chiffon over taffeta dresses designed with fitted bodices fashioned with gathered flounces at the necklines and trimmed with Schiffril lace. Each attendant carried a colonial bouquet of fresh blue and white flowers, festooned with matching streamers.

The groom chose, Dennis Ripley, as best man. David Lindsay, a brother of the groom, and Gary Andrews were groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Kenneth Bezan, the bride's brother, and Bernard Herbig, a brother-in-law of the groom.

Guests were received by the newly married Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay at a reception held at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville. The rehearsal dinner, for members of the wedding party was hosted at the Top of the Tower Restaurant in St. Louis.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bezan selected a full length blue chiffonette over taffeta gown created with beaded Venice lace bodice, short cap sleeves and handkerchief style skirt. The groom's mother, Mrs. Lindsay was attired in a floor length Dior blue silk knit dress designed with an empire bodice with V-neckline and softly flowing skirt, complemented with a chiffon capelet. Both mothers wore white Sweetheart corsets with blue accents.

A 1978 graduate of South High School, the bride is employed as a secretary at L. E. Lindsay Construction Co., and is an active member of the Tri-Cities Chapter, Professional Secretaries Association.

The groom was graduated from Granite City High School in 1972 and also graduated from Washington University in St. Louis in 1978 with a Masters Degree in Business Administration and Bachelor of Science Degree in civil engineering. He works as director of construction at the L. E. Lindsay Construction Co.

Unemployment insurance law praised by both parties

Two guest comments on the newly-approved law revising Illinois unemployment compensation: State Representative Sam Wolf (Democrat) of Granite City-I supported the new unemployment insurance compromise, which was worked out in a three-day meeting between labor and employer representatives. It makes basic changes in unemployment insurance saving more than $256 million and cutting the state's debt to the federal government.

The compromise will insure that most workers will continue to receive most of the previous benefits, while making some changes, including a switch from a twice-yearly to an annual adjustment in benefits. The state currently owes the federal government $1.4 billion and would have owed it more than $2 billion by the end of this year if the changes had not been made. The state now will be able to reduce the anticipated amount of borrowing for next spring, and eventually end the borrowing altogether and balance the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. The compromise is not perfect, but it is the best possible solution that is fair to all sides.

Governor James R. Thompson

(Republican)—The main achievements of the January-June session of the Illinois General Assembly were providing economic stability during recessionary times and reforming the state's unemployment insurance system.

While this legislature did not resolve all of the critical problems facing our state, it did approve a number of pieces of legislation that will go toward improving life in Illinois.

I believe the most substantial bill passed by the legislature was Senate Bill 1081, the much-needed reform of the unemployment insurance system.

The bill was the result of hard, nose-to-nose bargaining by business and labor leaders, with overwhelming bi-partisan support in the Assembly. It will put Illinois on a sound program of paying off its $1.4 billion debt to the federal government and getting rid of some of the financially draining benefits that have plagued the system.

I believe this is the beginning of reinstating the "agreed bill" process that we must use for reaching a compromise on divisive issues that separate business and labor.

Propose 1982 as year of the eagle

The National Wildlife Federation has called on the nation to observe 1982 as the "Year of the Eagle" to commemorate the 200th anniversary of selection of the bald eagle as the national symbol.

The bald eagle, now an endangered species throughout most of the U.S., was adopted as the central figure of the great seal of the United States by the second Continental Congress on June 20, 1782, six years after a committee consisting of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson was named to recommend an official seal for the newly-independent country.

"By next June, the bald eagle will have served as our national bird and symbol for 200 years," said Dr. Jay D. Hair, executive vice-president of the NWF. "An eagle's bicentennial will remind all Americans of our wildlife heritage—a priceless natural resource that we must manage wisely if it is to survive."

Army buddies meet for reunion

Damian, Caffrey St., of Granite City, has returned from a week's vacation in Winston-Salem, N.C., where he attended the 18th annual reunion of friends from Company F, 363rd Regiment, 91st Division, U.S. Army.

The reunion is held on the last weekend in June in the hometown of one of the members, Caffrey explained. Next year's gathering will take place in St. Albans, Vermont.

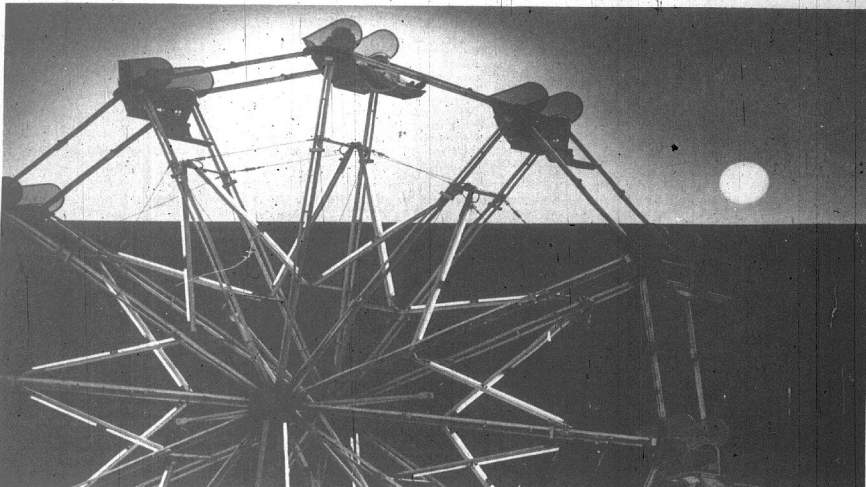

Twenty-eight members, all of whom served with the unit during World War II, attended the 1981 affair, which included a business meeting and buffet dinner. Many of those participating also toured the Schiltz Brewery and the Reynolds Tobacco Co. while in Winston-Salem.

Truck overturns; two are injured

Two men were injured when their pickup truck collided with another truck at Route 3 and West Ponton Road last week and rolled over twice after the collision. Police were told that the pickup truck of Dennis Long, 20, of Rural Route One, Box 614, Granite City, was northbound on Route 3 when the pickup truck of Joseph Polach, 70, of 4121 Old Alton Road, entered the intersection eastbound, failing to stop at the stop sign.

Long's vehicle rolled twice and knocked down an Illinois Department of Transportation sign before coming to a stop. Long and a passenger in his truck, David Wood, 20, East Alton, went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for emergency treatment. Long suffered pain to his back and Wood suffered abrasions to his left shoulder and right hip. Both were released after treatment.

Polach was issued a ticket alleging failure to yield the right-of-way.

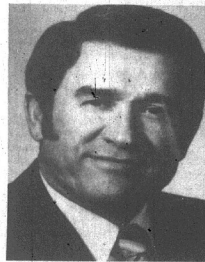

SUNSET AT THE FAIR. Silhouetting the ferris wheel at the Wilson Park Carnival last week, the sun sets over the roof of the ice rink pavilion. The opening of the carnival began a five-day schedule of activities celebrating the Fourth of July holiday, which included fireworks in Wilson Park.

Treat street staff like others, officer says

To the Editor: Past practice has always dictated the outcome of present and future events. The precedent to date in the city government of Granite City is that, if any cuts are needed, let them begin with the street department.

While all the other departments in recent years have feasted on unchallenged spending, Superintendent of Streets Lionel Portell has been budgeting and conserving to provide what services he can with the crumbs the City Council allows him—only to find that the more he conserves, the more they cut.

If the police and fire departments have their way, we will "kill the bull" to "save the fatted calf." I, for one, can understand the necessity of layoffs and methods of financial conservation, due to rising costs and the war on inflation that the city is now fighting.

But maybe this war is being fought with too many generals. Maybe the proposal for across-the-board cuts is legitimate. Maybe the idea of having overpopulated police and fire departments and little, if any, street department personnel sounds logical to an intelligent taxpayer. But, to me, the only fair and legitimate way to cut services is to go across the board with the same percentage for each department.

This would show no partiality to any department, despite any political differences. The versatility of our street department is something that we all, at times, take for granted.

Bill would aid recipients of scholarships

More than 30,000 Illinois state scholarship recipients will be able to "breathe a little easier" if an amendment approved by the Ill. House becomes law.

The amendment, supported by Rep. Sam Wolf (D, Granite City), added $3 million to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission to make up for a lack of scholarship funds for the 1981-1982 school year.

"About 30,000 students were faced with a $100 reduction in their scholarships because the ISSC inadvertently over-extended itself in awards this spring," Wolf said.

"This amendment adds the funds necessary to make up for this shortfall," Wolf said some universities were planning to ask the students to come up with the $100 themselves before they would be allowed to enter school in the fall. "We made an obligation to these students that we would provide them with a scholarship," Wolf said. "It is important that we make good on that commitment and provide the funds needed to meet this obligation, rather than to force them to dig deeper into their own pockets."

NEW BUSINESS which has opened in the parking lot of Bellemore Village Shopping Center, The Flash Cube, welcomed its corporation president, Howard Danzig last week. The new business offers film, developing, cigarettes, newspapers and magazines, many at below-market prices, Danzig explained. From the left are the new owner, Fran Willis, employees Dotty Boyer (top) and Pat Rutledge, bottom, and Danzig.

Troop 7 celebrates Spring Communion mass at ceremony

Boy Scouts of Troop 7 at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, celebrated their Spring, 1981, Communion mass last week at St. Joseph's Church, with Fr. Victor Chateaufort, MSF, St. Joseph's pastor as mass celebrant; thus, observing as a unit the 12th point of the Scout Law, "A Scout Is Reverent."

Troop 7 observes quarterly their spring, summer, fall and winter Communion masses.

Leadership Corps Scout, Mark Mainridge, served as lector with Scouts Karl Markovich Jr. of Panther Patrol and Joey Kusnierczak, of the Flaming Arrow Patrol as mass servers and Scout Jeff Kittel, of Cobra Patrol as cross bearer. Scouts Williams Falbe and Mike Mainridge of Cobra Patrol were gift bearers.

After mass, the Booster Club of St. Joseph's provided milk and donuts for those attending mass.

On June 14, the Granite City Elks invited the scouts of Troop 7 to participate in the presentation of the colors and the retiring of the Flag. Scouts Steve Kusnierczak Jr. and Kevin Williamson served as color guards and scout Mark Mainridge carried the American Flag, at the flag-raising ceremony held at the Elks Lodge.

By NANCY ANDERSON
HOLLYWOOD — Jack Albertson doesn't want to give away the plot but admits that he plays an undertaker in "Dead and Buried."

Beyond that, he won't say much about his role in the new Avco Embassy release which is a second product for the creators of "Alien."

The picture is a scary one (or it's intended to be).

"However," Jack says, "we don't like to call it 'a horror picture.' We prefer the word 'terror.'"

So what's the difference? Albertson's not entirely sure.

A poor boy who dropped out of high school "when the faculty requested that I take my business elsewhere," Albertson moved from classrooms to pool halls to become a hustler.

"I was bright and quick and receptive at school," he says, eschewing modesty, "but I didn't do my homework. I preferred to hang around the poolroom."

"A great deal of my education has come from my wife."

Wallace, his wife of 26 years, is a Ph.D. candidate president of the California Democratic Council and president of the Los Angeles Community College Board of Trustees.

Albertson began dancing in the pool halls to keep his legs from cramping during long games.

He worked on a freighter until he discovered, "I hated the sea," then he went to New York to seek his fortune, arriving there the day after the 1929 stock market crash.

Sleeping in the subway and wearing newspapers under his shirt to keep warm, he managed to survive until work as a chorus gypsy gave him more security. Not much, but more.

At one point, he teamed with Phil Silvers.

Hired by H.L. Minsky, the pair was paid $8 for a night's work and when they asked for a raise the next day, Minsky not only fired them but pledged that they'd never work in burlesque again.

Albertson never did. Instead, he rose through the ranks to become one of only three men to have won an Oscar, an Emmy (he's won two) and a Tony Award.

Other members of the triumvirate are Melvyn Douglas and Paul Scofield.

While his mother, who died 25 years ago, didn't live to see him reach his present eminence, "She was very pleased that I was working regularly," Jack says.

"My stepfather took care of my sister and me. I called him and asked, 'Pop, is there anything you need?'"

"He said, 'What would I need? I've got you.'"

The night before President Carter was inaugurated, Albertson appeared on a show aired from Washington fighting mandatory retirement and he continues to fight it.

"I'm never going to retire," he says. "Heavens, no!"

The feisty character actor recently turned down a chance to make a lot of money doing a television commercial which didn't appeal to him ("It was about dentures, and I still bite with my own teeth"), but he doesn't sit idle.

Albertson's not only being seen now in "Dead and Buried," he'll be seen soon in a new ABC-TV movie.

"I don't remember the name right now," he says. "Maybe they never told me the name, but it was made in Nashville."

"It's not about music, though. It's about a family in a small town."

Nice guy with low profile

By ALAN L. GANSBERG

HOLLYWOOD — JAMES BEST, who portrays Sheriff Rosco P. Coltrane on CBS's "The Dukes of Hazzard," has made it his policy to keep a low profile. Even when he quit the show for five episodes — something about a new dressing room — he didn't take his case to the press, as many other stars have done.

Yet, there is one story that Jimmy quietly confirmed. A few weeks ago it came to his attention that a retarded boy in Detroit had been brought out of a near-catatonic state by watching "Dukes" every Friday night and that the boy was particularly enamored with "the Rosco giggle," as Jimmy likes to call it.

So Jimmy hopped a plane to Michigan and made a visit to the boy's classroom at a school for retarded kids. Since that time the boy's mother reports that her son's mental state has vastly improved.

To show that nice guys sometimes do finish first, Jimmy has been tapped to direct an upcoming "Dukes" episode entitled "The Great Diamond Robbery," the culmination of a dream he has had for 25 years. He's also submitted three story ideas to the producers of the series and is waiting their approval so he can sit down in front of the typewriter and pound out a script.

And like his pal BURT REYNOLDS, Jimmy is deeply interested in working with new talent and is the founder of a theater center in the Toluca Lake section of Los Angeles — not far from BOB HOPE's mansion. Two of his former students are GARY BUSEY and LINDSAY WAGNER. But, so much a Southern boy is Jim, that he would still have his base in Mississippi if Warner Brothers had not coaxed him back to Hollywood.

Similarly, ALAN ALDA has always kept his home base out of the Hollywood scene, commuting to Leonia, N.J., when "M.A.S.H." was not shooting. Alan and his wife ARLENE ALDA are now more or less in Hollywood to stay, and she had what could be described as her Hollywood coming-out party recently at 20th Century-Fox, where the top executives feted her on the publication of "On Set," a book of photos taken on the location of "The Four Seasons," which Alan wrote, directed and starred in.

Purists may wonder why the gang at 20th would honor Arlene for a book about a film produced by Universal Pictures, but one look at the ledger on "M.A.S.H." — from Fox TV — would answer any questions. The show is the most successful in the world at this point.

Success may be a little distant from CHER's vocabulary these days. The singer reportedly had trouble selling tickets for her weekend concerts at a Hollywood outdoor theater. At least her relationship with Black Rose singer Les Dudek is healthy.

But things have never been better for LEE LEONARD, who just celebrated his first anniversary as the host of "People Tonight" on TED TURNER's Cable News Network and Superstation WTBS. Thanks to a healthy guest list of the cream of Hollywood, Lee is emerging as one of the first stars of cable. Word is that the show will also be syndicated by the end of the year.

Some upcoming Hollywood casting: DORIAN HAREWOOD, who is one of the stars of ABC's upcoming series "Strike Force" and is also known for playing Alex Haley's father on "Roots: The Next Generations," has been tagged to play NAT KING COLE in a biographical feature on the late entertainer.

And LOU FERRIGNO will shed his green make-up to play CHARLES ATLAS in a film about the well-known body builder.

Video is Monkee's business

By ALAN L. GANSBERG
HOLLYWOOD — They were a lovable rock 'n' roll quartet when their show ran on NBC from 1966-68, but after the series was canceled, The Monkees pretty much dropped from sight.

DAVY JONES has held on to the fame and is currently touring Japan, where the TV series is in reruns and a big hit.

MIKEY DOLENZ came within a hair's breadth of snagging the role of The Fonz on "Happy Days" and is now making films in London.

PETER TORK has worked as a teacher in a Los Angeles "free school" and as a waiter.

It's MICHAEL NESMITH whose name is on the rise again in Hollywood. The titular head of the group, Nesmith licked his wounds after the show was canceled and moved to Carmel, Calif., to work on his music.

He did have a hit record in the early '70s, but Nesmith has new technologies on his mind these days. Through his Pacific Arts Video Corp., Nesmith is producing original video cassettes in the hopes of pioneering that market once it becomes lucrative for something besides movies.

Nesmith has produced "Elephant Parts," a colorful collection of comedy and music and is looking toward coming out with an entire line of what he calls "video records."

The now-bearded Nesmith says, "People are throwing off the yoke of old-time television, throwing off the notion of having a passive relationship with the television set." He's hoping that videophiles will want to tune in.

Another name that brings on whiffs of nostalgia is DARRYL HICKMAN, who was one of the most active child actors of the 1950s and continued as a teen-ager into the '60s.

Although rarely active himself in front of the cameras, Hickman is teaching acting workshops at a rehearsal studio owned by DEBBIE REYNOLDS. He teaches four workshops a week.

Meanwhile, brother DWAYNE HICKMAN of "Dobie Gillis" and "Love That Bob" fame is a CBS programming executive.

MARIETTE HARTLEY is furious over a photograph that is being used to promote her new film, "Improper Channels," and she's not about to stay mum. It seems that the poster for the film, which has been released in the East, has the actress holding a gun.

Hartley, who is an outspoken critic of guns and an advocate of gun control, is trying to get Crown International Pictures, the film's distributor, to use a different technique to sell the Canadian-made feature.

An ironic twist for the woman who became a household word selling cameras on television.

If you haven't seen RICHARD DAWSON's name in print lately, it's not because reporters haven't been trying. The host of "Family Feud" has put a lid on all interviews for the time being after claiming one writer maligned him.

Ask anyone in Hollywood to give you one thought about DICK CLARK and he'll probably respond with awe about how good the host of "American Bandstand" looks for a man in his early 50s. Clark has decided to share his secrets with the men of America and is planning to introduce a line of cosmetics which he hopes will put even the most dingy face back in the boogie.

On the disabled list is GAVIN MACLEOD, who has broken his foot for the second time in three months. MacLeod is currently in Australia shooting the upcoming season of "The Love Boat" and hobbling on cast and crutches. He'll still be able to play the captain of the cruise ship, though.

CHARLES BRONSON could start giving tours of Los Angeles after he completes shooting of "Death Wish II," his feature now in production. More than 90 locations throughout the city are being used and few neighborhoods are going untouched.
